"Two of a Kind."

"There are two chief reasons for the failure of medicine. These reasons are the doctor and the druggist. Both should be good. People who use the greatest care in the selection of their physicians, select this drug store for their prescriptions. We not only give you just what the doctor prescribes, but we give the best of it put up in the best way. The intelligent doctor and this honest drug store are two of a kind—good, safe kind."

Little Mary Knott celebrated her twelfth birthday on Wednesday of this week. Twelve little girls were her guests, and from 4 to 6 they had a merry time. After playing croquet and ring-toss on the lawn, they enjoyed a swim in the pool, after which they were invited into the dining room where the birthday cake, with its twelve candles, gave the little girls their first intimation that they had come to a birthday party. Ice cream, cake, fruit punch and bon-bons were served. After more games on the lawn where they ate grapes and had a good time generally, they bade goodbye to the little hostess, each declaring that she had enjoyed a delightful afternoon and a glad surprise. Mary received from her parents twelve beautiful volumes, bound in "morocco," of "What Every Child Should Know," by Hamilton Wright Mabie, a most acceptable remembrance of a happy day.

TALLAHASSEE.

Tallahassee is a quaint old town, That sits on the top of a hill. It has no ugly bar rooms, So it is very quiet and still.

Its noted for pretty flowers, That grow in Florida's clime, And little birds by the thousand, That are singing all the time.

It is blest with handsome churches, With their steeples towering high, From them you hear the message That goes beyond the sky.

Everywhere you look is beauty, For this quaint old town is blest, With the hand of Mother's nature, Surely it's a haven of rest.

It is blest with every good blessing, From the dear school boy to the lassie, The sweetest Town in all the World, Is quaint old Tallahassee.

—Composed and written by E. R. Tiler.

Feel that the destiny of Tallahassee is upon your shoulders and attend meeting at Chamber of Commerce to night. This is the only way to induce prosperity.
